Legal notice

The software used performs calculations on the basis of more than the two decimal places displayed. Minor discrepancies cannot be ruled out due to further calculations using published results.

The value of a unit is calculated by dividing the entire value of the investment fund inclusive of its income by the number of units. The total value of the investment fund is calculated on the basis of the current market prices of the securities, money market instruments and subscription rights in the fund plus the value of the fund's financial investments, cash holdings, credit balances, receivables and other rights net of its payables. That value will be calculated by the custodian bank.

The net assets are calculated in accordance with the following principles:

- a) The value of assets quoted or traded on a stock exchange or other regulated market shall be determined, in principle, on the basis of the most recently available price.
- b) Where an asset is not quoted or traded on a stock market or another regulated market or where the price for an asset quoted or traded on a stock market or another regulated market does not appropriately reflect its actual market value, the prices provided by reliable data providers or, alternatively, market prices for equivalent securities or other recognized market valuation methods shall be used.

Raiffeisen KAG calculates performance based on the published fund price, using the OeKB methodology. Individual costs – such as transaction fees, the subscription fee (not exceeding 3.00 %), the redemption fee (not exceeding 0.00 %) or custody charges of the investor – and taxes are not included in the performance calculation. These would reduce the performance if they were included. Past value is not a reliable indicator of the fund's future performance.

Fund investment policy report

Equities

The fund continues to invest in equities of companies which focus on sustainability and have above-average ratings in terms of social and environmental criteria. In addition to a favorable sustainability assessment, the selected companies must also have attractive financial valuations. The fund's equities segment remains broadly diversified and invests in companies which operate in developed markets in a particularly responsible and sustainable manner. Investments continue to focus on Europe and North America, while Japan plays a relatively minor role. The reporting period was dominated by rising inflation figures and the anticipated tightening of central bank policies. There was much speculation among market participants about the extent of the associated interest rate hikes. In March 2022, the FED made its first interest rate move. The rise in inflation received additional momentum from Russia's attack on Ukraine, pushing commodity prices up further. In this environment, significant numbers of growth stocks and quality stocks with a more stable profit trend and the associated higher financial valuation were sold off within a short period of time in early 2022. Fossil energy companies and other commodity producers posted significant price gains. All in all, the equities segment recorded a slightly weaker performance in this environment. The contributions made by the sectors varied greatly. While financials, communications and utilities performed well, chemicals, basic consumer goods and healthcare were among the losers. At the individual stock level, securities such as the US transport company Union Pacific or the UK energy supplier National Grid, delivered particularly positive performances. Orpea and Sysmex, two healthcare companies, occupied the opposite end of the performance scale. The fund's activities in its equities segment were shaped by profit-taking, measures to optimize risk/return perspectives and not least by changes to the sustainability assessment for individual securities.

Global bonds

Accounting for an average of around 10 % of the overall fund, the sustainable US dollar-denominated bonds that had been added to Raiffeisen Sustainable Mix recorded a significantly negative trend. Above all, this development reflected a massive rise in US inflation figures and a change in monetary policy by the FED which discontinued its bond purchases and initiated a cycle of interest rate hikes at the end of the reporting period. As a result, prices fell sharply, especially those of short and medium-term bonds, with the trend accelerating dramatically towards the end of the reporting period against the backdrop of Russia's war in Ukraine. At the time, the market was expecting rate hikes of 250 basis points over the course of the year. The securities in the global bond segment were not immune to this negative bond environment. These securities consisted of bonds issued by supranational organizations or agency issuers, mortgage bonds, bank bonds and corporate bonds. As a consequence of the difficult market environment, the yield differentials between these non-government bonds and US government bonds increased in the course of the reporting period. Thanks to significant inflows especially at the beginning of the reporting period, US dollar bonds were purchased on both the primary and the secondary market. The interest rate risk in the US dollar bond segment fluctuated slightly and averaged just under 4 years. In the reporting period, the US dollar gained considerably against the euro, thus mitigating the losses in bond prices. On balance, the global bond segment thus recorded a slightly negative performance of approx. -0.1 % in euro in the period under review.

Euro bonds

The euro government bond sector posted the steepest losses in decades, with bonds generally losing across all credit ratings and maturities. Corporate bonds, the largest asset class in the segment, were under pressure from two sides in the reporting period – on the one hand, rising interest rates on German government bonds and even more so swap rates, and on the other hand, a massive increase in corporate spreads. The dominant subject, apart from the Russia-Ukraine conflict, was clearly inflation, which had an impact on all asset classes. Corporates were the hardest hit in our universe, not least due to waning central bank action (e.g., bond purchases, the pricing in of ECB interest rate hikes). In the reporting period, spreads on non-financial corporate bonds rose from around 83 bp to a peak of 158 bp before returning to around 130 bp at the turn of the month. Yields in this segment rose even more sharply, going up approximately fourfold from around 0.4 % to approx. 1.6 % in the period under review. German government bonds, for example, also failed to provide protection during this period of high risk aversion; yields on 10-year German government bonds, for instance, rose from around -0.2 % to 0.65 %, resulting in significant losses. Based on our view of rising government bond yields, the bond component was hedged with a duration of approx. 0.1 - 0.8 years by means of German interest rate futures, which mitigated the negative effect of rising yields to some extent. Corporates were given a weighting of approx. 50 % of the segment volume, with the focus placed on medium-term maturities. The lower weighting of long maturities succeeded in slightly mitigating the losses in this area. The fund's corporates segment continued to concentrate on high qualities. In this difficult phase, especially after the outbreak of the Ukraine war, the decision to avoid Russian or Ukrainian stocks paid off relative to the market. However, the almost 20 % addition of financials, which suffered significantly during this phase, had a negative impact at the beginning. The addition of approx. 40 % swap-correlated instruments, such as covered bonds and SSAs, was disadvantageous compared to pure government bonds during the reporting period. Given the attractive yield advantage of these instruments over comparable government bonds with a similar rating, we remain committed to this positioning. At the end of March 2022, the duration was raised – among other measures via an interest rate model – and the valuation has now become significantly more attractive.

Securities lending transactions were entered into in order to generate additional income.

- Identity of the counterparties for securities lending transactions:

Raiffeisen Bank International AG (as a recognized securities lending system within the meaning of § 84 InvFG)

- Nature and value of eligible collateral received by the investment fund versus the counterparty risk:

Under the master agreement on securities lending transactions concluded between the management company and Raiffeisen Bank International AG, Raiffeisen Bank International AG is obliged to provide collateral for loaned securities. Bonds, equities and units in investment funds are permitted as collateral. The bonds used as collateral may be issued by sovereigns, supranational issuers and/or companies etc. No stipulations apply in relation to the terms of these bonds. Within the scope of provision of collateral, pursuant to § 4 of the Austrian Securities Lending and Repurchase Agreement Ordinance (Verordnung zu Wertpapierleih- und Pensionsgeschäften, WPV), diversification and correlation with risk diversification achieved through quantitative issuer limits in particular and appropriate liquidity for collateral for the purpose of tradability and realizability will be ensured. This collateral will be valued on each banking day, subject to an add-on compared to the valuation of the securities loaned from the fund in accordance with provisions of EU Regulation 575/2013 (CRR). For bonds, this add-on will be determined on the basis of the credit rating of the issuer and the remaining term of the bond and will amount to no less than 0.5 %. For equities and units in investment funds, this add-on will amount to 10.607 %. The value of the required collateral, thus calculated, will result in the ongoing overcollateralization of the fund's outstanding securities lending positions.

On the reporting date the collateral had the following makeup:
